

A: Good morning.

B: Good morning, I am here for my interview.

A: First of all, let me properly introduce myself. I am the IT Department Manager. As you know there is an open position in my department, and I need to fill this position as soon as possible. Please, tell me a little bit about yourself.

B: I am in my second year of college. I study Computer Science at University of Bucharest and I have been working part-time as a data entry operator for the last year.

A: What do you do in your free time?

B: I joined a class about Arduino Robotics, so I can learn about hardware as well. Also, I volunteer at a special needs school.

A: That's nice to hear. What are you looking for in a job?

B: It should help me see what Computer Science is all about. I have learned a lot of theories at school, and now it is time for me to put them into practice. I also hope that it will help me grow in my field.

A: Now, let me ask you a couple of quick questions, do you mind working long hours?

B: No, I do not.

A: What are your strengths?

B: I am a hard-working person and a fast learner. I am very eager to learn, and I get along fine with people.

A: What is your greatest weakness?

B: I am impatient with myself at times and am hard on myself.

A: Can you handle pressure?

B: Yes, I can. When I used to work last year, I finished all my classes with high grades while working at least twenty hours every week. And, I handled that situation very well.

A: So why are interested in changing positions?

B: Unfortunately, our company was shutting down due to the economy.

A: Do you have any questions for me?

B: No, I have a pretty good understanding of the job. I believe that I can handle it with ease, and I hope to have the opportunity to work for you.

A: It was nice meeting you. Thank you for coming.

B: Nice meeting you too. Thank you for taking the time to interview me.
